STATEMENT OF CASE

The defendant, JESUS ROSAS-MANCILLA, is charged in an indictment with one charge associated with a Deported Alien Found In The United States.

I.

MOTION TO COMPEL DISCOVERY

A. Defendant is Entitled to Discovery of His Statements

Pursuant to Rule 16(a)(1)(A), and Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963), and the Fifth and Sixth Amendments to the United States Constitution, JESUS ROSAS-MANCILLA requests the disclosure of all statements, written, oral and recorded, made by him, which are in the possession, custody, or control of the government, or which by the exercise of due diligence may become known to the government, regardless of to whom the statements were made.

This request includes verbatim transcripts of all statements as well as the substance of all oral statements made by JESUS ROSAS-MANCILLA to government agents and other persons. This includes all rough notes of government agents, which include statements of JESUS ROSAS-MANCILLA. This request includes all Federal Agencies and any local associated agency, and other government reports and rough notes containing the above-mentioned statements; all recorded statements taken from JESUS ROSAS-MANCILLA regarding the present case; all documentation, which contains statements allegedly made by JESUS ROSAS-MANCILLA.

1 A defendant has a right to inspect these requested statements. This has been 2 extended to permit discovery of written summaries of the defendant's oral
3 statements contained in handwritten notes of government agents. See United 4 States v. Johnson, 525 F.2d 999 (2d Cir. 1975); Loux v. United states v. Bailleaux, 5 685 F.2d 1105 (9th Cir. 1982).

8 B. The Defendant is Entitled to Disclosure of Any Prior Convictions or 9 Prior Similar Acts
10

11 Fed.R.Crim.P. 16(a)(1)(B) provides that upon request of the defendant, the 12 government shall furnish to the defendant a copy of his prior criminal record, if 13 any, as is within the possession, custody, or control of the government. JESUS
14 ROSAS-MANCILLA makes this request.
15

16 The defendant also requests that the government provide discovery of any 17 prior similar acts, which the government will intend to introduce into evidence
18 pursuant to Fed.R.Evid. 404(b). The defendant must have access to this 19 information in order to make appropriate motions to exclude the use of such 20 evidence at trial. See United States v. Cook, 609 F.2d 1174 (9th Cir. 1985).
21

23 The defendant requests a pre-trial conference on the morning of the trial in 24 order to resolve any issues raised by the government's intention to introduce such 25 evidence.
26
27
28

C. The Defendant is Entitled to Examine any Documents, Tangible Items, and the Like Which are in the Possession, Custody, or Control of the Government

Pursuant to Fed.R.Crim.P. 16(a)(1)(C) and Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963), the defendant requests the opportunity to inspect and copy all books, papers, documents, photographs, and tangible items which are in the possession, custody, or control of the government and which are material to the preparation of the defense intended for use by the government as evidence in the case in chief.

The defendant further makes these requests pursuant to Brady v. Maryland on the ground that this evidence provides exculpatory information that is beneficial to the defendant in his defense against the charges against him in the indictment.

This request encompasses all such information in the possession of any federal, state or local agency, which has information regarding the investigation of this Defendant.

This request includes but is not limited to the following: all search warrants and their accompanying affidavits, as well as the opportunity to inspect the results of all searches conducted by law enforcement officers pursuant to warrants and their accompanying affidavits, as well as the opportunity to inspect the results of all searches conducted by law enforcement officers pursuant to warrants and/or

1 otherwise (this request includes the searches of all residences, businesses,
2 automobiles, and other locations regarding this case); all tape recorded 3 conversations, closed circuit television surveillance, ground/air surveillance of 4 suspects, telephone toll analysis, bank records and financial documents involving 5 this case. This request also includes the results of all follow-up investigations
6 regarding the above-requested evidence. These requests are made pursuant to 7 Fed.R.Crim.P. 16 and Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963).
8
10

11 D. Due Process Exculpatory Information

12 Pursuant to Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963); Giglio v. United States,
13 405 U.S. 150 (1972), and the Fifth and Sixth Amendments to the United States
14 Constitution, JESUS ROSAS-MANCILLA requests disclosure of all information of 15 whatever form, source or nature which tends to exculpate him by indicating his 16 innocence, contradicting the Government's theory of the case, and impeaching the 17 credibility of potential government witnesses. This request specifically includes all 18 co-conspirator statements, indicted and unindicted, all third party witness
19 statements interviewed by government agents and/or of which the government
20 has custody, dominion or control. This request includes all recorded 21 conversations, electronic, mechanical, stenographic or otherwise, of all
22 coconspirators, indicted and unindicted, all defendants, and all potential witnesses 23 which statements are relevant to the subject matter charged in the indictment and 24
26
27
28

1 are in the possession, custody or control of the government. It also includes such 2 statements within the meaning of Title 18 U.S.C. Section 3504.
3

4 JESUS ROSAS-MANCILLA requests the government provide all statements
5 made by all potential witnesses. The term "statements" as used in this request
6 includes tape-recorded conversations, rough notes, correspondence, memoranda 7 or reports prepared directly by such persons and/or by any government agents (of 8 any government entity) or attorneys. It includes all Grand Jury testimony, as well 9 as previous in-court and trial testimony. It includes all government debriefings of 10 all potential witnesses. If such statements were prepared orally to any government
11 agent, JESUS ROSAS-MANCILLA requests that they be committed to writing and 12 produced forthwith.
13
15

16 JESUS ROSAS-MANCILLA requests access to prior testimony of all
17 government witnesses. Two (2) statutory provisions and one (1) major 18 constitutional provision must be considered in resolving any questions involving 19 compelled disclosure of government witness statements. First, the Jencks Act, 18
20 U.S.C. Section 3500, regulates disclosure of witness statements, as defined by the 21 Act, and prohibits any order requiring production prior to the completion of direct 22 examination of the witness. Second, Rule 16(a)(2) excepts from the operation of 23 the general discovery provisions of Rule 16 those reports, memoranda and internal 24 government documents generated during the course of an investigation into the 25
26
27
28

1 case, except as provided in the Jencks Act. The Rule does not prohibit the 2 disclosure of such items, but states, merely, that it does not authorize them.

3
4 Third, an overriding principle requires the government to disclose all
5 exculpatory material in its possession. See Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963).
6 JESUS ROSAS-MANCILLA makes his request under all three provisions. Although 7 the Jencks Act and the Federal Rules may act as limitations on the time at which 8 access to discoverable material may be had, neither statutory provision can limit
9 the constitutional requirement of disclosure of exculpatory material under Brady.
10 In fact, although there has been some dispute on the point, it is now clear that the 11 Jencks Act was not meant as a limitation on the scope of discovery to which a 12 defendant is entitled, as expressed in Jencks v. United States, 353 U.S. 657 (1957),
13 but rather a reaffirmation of the essential nature of that discovery:
14
16

18 "That the Act was not intended to limit the Jencks decision is 19 apparent from its legislative history. Rather than limit, the Act
20 'reaffirms' (Jencks) in its holding that a defendant on trial in a 21 criminal prosecution is entitled to relevant and competent
22 reports and statements in possession of the government
23 touching the events and activities as to which a government
24 witness has testified at trial."

25 See S.Rep.No. 981, 85th Cong., 1st Sess., 3 (1957) U.S. Code Cong
26 & Admin. News, 1957, pp. 1861, 1862. Goldberg v. United States,
27 425 U.S. 94, 104 (1976).

28 With regard to pure Jencks Act material, therefore, the provisions of the Act regulating timing of discovery may control. However, the Ninth Circuit has

1 indicated in the past the desirability of "encouraging" the government to disclose
2 Jencks Act statements prior to trial. See United States v. Spagnuolo, 515 F.2d 818,
3 821 (9th Cir. 1975). The Act, by its terms, provides for a reasonable defense
4 continuance after the release of Jencks material to prepare for cross-examination.
5 In this case it is apparent that the length of the "reasonable" continuance, which is 6 directly proportional to the work to be done during that continuance, would be 7 substantial. Consequently, there could be an inordinate delay interrupting the 8 course of trial if the Jencks Act were strictly followed. As such, JESUS ROSAS-
9 MANCILLA requests early production of this material.

10
11 Not all statements obtained during the course of the government
12 investigation fall within the parameters of the Jencks Act. The Act, and Rule 13 16(b)(2) apply, by their terms only, to persons whom the government does not 14 intend to call as witnesses; such statements are discoverable as Brady material. See 15 United States v. Marshak, 364 F.Supp.1005, 1007-1008 (S.D.N.Y. 1973). As to those 16 materials, the Jencks Act time limitations do not apply and discovery should be 17 provided immediately.

18
19 In addition, certain comments of government witnesses that have been 20 recorded do not fall within the Jencks Act time limitations, but do fall within 21 Brady. The Jencks Act is quite specific with regard to those materials that are 22 "statements" within the meaning of the Act. These include the following:
23
25
26
27
28

1 (1) a written statement made by said witness and signed or otherwise adopted
2 or approved of by him;

3
4 (2) stenographic, mechanical, electrical or other recording, or a transcription 5 thereof, which is substantially verbatim recital of an oral statement made by 6 said witness and recorded contemporaneously with the making of such oral 7 statement; or,
8

9 (3) a statement, however taken or recorded, or transcription thereof, if any,
10 made by said witness to a grand jury. See 18 U.S.C. Section 3500(e).
11

12 With regard to non-Grand Jury materials, the comments of a government
13 witness are only "statements" within the meaning of the Jencks Act if they were 14 approved and acknowledged by the witness or if they are verbatim recitals of the 15 witness' words. Thus, in Goldberg v. United States, 425 U.S. 94, 104 (1976), the 16 Supreme Court made clear that, absent such adoption or verbatim recital, the 17 statements are not discoverable under the Jencks Act. The court reasoned that the 18 government witness should not be impeached by the written or recorded 19 document unless it was accurate or accepted by the witness as accurate. Thus, for 20 example, if a government investigator questioned a witness and merely 21 summarized the witness' testimony, without giving him an opportunity to 22 acknowledge or correct it, the material would not come within the Jencks Act, and 23 would not be discoverable under that theory.
24
26
27
28

1 In this case, however, JESUS ROSAS-MANCILLA wishes to make other use
2 of similar reports. The use to which it will be put in this case requires discovery
3 under Brady. The court in Goldberg was clearly concerned with the use of the 4 statements as impeachment per se. Thus, if under the Jencks Act, it is not a 5 verbatim or accepted transcription, the witness cannot be impeached by the 6 writing of another.
7

9 Clearly, however, the witness may be impeached by the testimony of a
10 government agent, which contradicts the witness' testimony. Such a statement 11 from a government investigator would amount to a prior inconsistent statement, 12 which would be admissible even if the investigator had made no report. The 13 defense, however, would have no way of knowing of the existence of the interview,
14 and thus the existence of the possible inconsistent or otherwise impeaching
15 testimony from a government investigator, absent disclosure of the agent's report.
16 Consequently, disclosure of those portions of reports or other documents which 17 reveal such inconsistencies, whether or not the report concerned an interview with 18 the witness, are discoverable under Brady. The exclusions of the Jencks Act and 19 Rule 16 are inapplicable.
20
22
23
24

25 As part of this request JESUS ROSAS-MANCILLA also requests the name,
26 address and telephone number of each person the government intends to call as a 27 witness at trial.
28

1 Additionally, he requests the name, address and telephone number of each
2 person who was present during, or has material information regarding, any act or 3 transaction charged in the indictment, whether or not the government intends to 4 call such a person as a witness at the trial. The request includes a list of all
5 witnesses appearing before the Grand Jury in connection with this case. Advance
6 disclosure of witnesses is essential if JESUS ROSAS-MANCILLA's Sixth
7 Amendment right to effective assistance of counsel is to have any real meaning.
8 This request is properly before the court. See United States v. Cadet, 727 F.2d 1453,
9 1469 (9th Cir. 1984); Wilson v. Rose, 366 F.2d 611 (9th Cir. 1966).

11 Pursuant to Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963); Giglio v. United States,
12 405 U.S. 150 (1972); Davis v. Alaska, 415 U.S. 308 (1974), JESUS ROSAS-MANCILLA
13 makes the following request for:

14
15 (1) All impeaching evidence such as prior records, prior inconsistent
16 statements, evidence for bias, interest, or motive, and prior uncharged bad 17 acts of all the potential witnesses in this case;

18
19 (2) All formal or informal promises to reward a witness, such as promises of 20 probation, promises of monetary gain, payment of living or medical 21 expenses, payment for transportation or promises of witness protection;
22
24
25
26
27
28

(3) All information relating to alcohol or drug abuse treatment of all potential witnesses, and all information relating to drug uses of each potential witness;

(4) All information relating to the use of aliases or fictitious names by each potential government witness;

(5) All information relating to prior acts of all potential witnesses which are probative of his character for untruthfulness within the meaning of Fed.R.Evid. 608(b); and,

(6) All information relating to contradictory statements made by all potential government witnesses or agents or representative of any law enforcement entity or other persons.

E. JESUS ROSAS-MANCILLA Requests all Statements made by any Indicted or Unindicted Co-conspirators or Co-defendants (If applicable)

JESUS ROSAS-MANCILLA specifically requests all co-conspirators statements, whether recorded or unrecorded, oral or written, signed or unsigned, in the government's possession, which are relevant to this case. This request includes statements: (a) made to government agents, either with or without the individual's knowledge that such persons were government agents at the time he or she made the statement; (b) made to persons other than government agents

1 whom the government intends to call as witnesses in this case; and, (c) made to 2 persons other than government agents whom the government does not intend to 3 call as witnesses in this case.
4

5 With regard to any statements claimed to have been made by unindicted 6 coconspirators and/or co-defendants during the course of, or subsequent to the 7 commission of, the acts charged in the indictment, JESUS ROSAS-MANCILLA
8 requests disclosure of: (a) the date of each alleged statement; (b) the name, 9 address and telephone number of each person present when the statement was 10 made; (c) whether the statement was memorialized in any manner, including 11 rough notes, memoranda, investigative reports, tape recordings, transcripts or 12 grand jury testimony; and, (d) copies of any such report or memoranda.
13 Statements made by JESUS ROSAS-MANCILLA's alleged co-conspirators are 14 admissible against him under Rule 801(d)(2)(E) of the Fed.R.Evid., only if certain 15 foundational requirements are satisfied. See United States v. Weiner, 578 F.2d 757, 16 768 (9th Cir.), cert. denied, 439 U.S. 981 (1978) (co-conspirator hearsay is 17 admissible only when a foundation is laid to show that the declaration was in 18 furtherance and made during pendency of the conspiracy).
19
21
22
23
24

25 Pre-trial production of all statements which the government intends to 26 introduce under Rule 801(d)(2)(E) will enable counsel to determine in advance 27 whether the applicable foundational requirements have been satisfied and to 28

1 challenge objectionable statements that were made through an appropriate
2 motion in limine prior to trial. In this connection, it is important to note that not 3 all statements made by co-conspirators during the course of the conspiracy are 4 admissible under Rule 801(d)(2)(E). The Ninth Circuit has held, for example, that 5 statements of historical fact, casual admissions to coconspirators, and other 6 statements which do not advance the common objectives of the conspiracy are 7 inadmissible. See e.g., United States v. Bibbero, 749 F.2d 581 (9th Cir. 1984); United 8 States v. Fielding, 630 F.2d 1357, 1365 (9th Cir. 1980); United States v. Castillo, 615
9 F.2d 878, 882, 883 (9th Cir. 1980); United States v. Moore, 522 F.2d 1068, 1075-1077
10 (9th Cir. 1975), cert. denied, 423 U.S. 1049 (1976).

11 In addition, the compelling practical considerations favoring pre-trial
12 discovery of co-conspirator's hearsay statements, JESUS ROSAS-MANCILLA is 13 entitled to this disclosure. Since co-conspirators are deemed to be agents of the 14 defendant when made in furtherance of the conspiracy, the Jencks Act would not 15 prevent disclosure.

16 Additionally, since a co-conspirator statement is admissible against the 17 defendant as if it were his or her own, such statements are discoverable under Rule 18 16(a)(1)(A). See United States v. Thevis, 84 F.R.D. 47, 50 (N.D.Ga. 1979); United 19 States v. Turkish, 48 P.F. Supp. 874, 882 (S.D.N.Y. 1978).

1 In addition to his right to discover statements he made and statements of 2 coconspirators, a defendant is also entitled to discovery of information concerning 3 the circumstances under which those statements were made. See United States v.
4 Feinberg, 502 F.2d 1180, 1181 (7th Cir. 1974), cert. denied 420 U.S. 926 (1975); United 5 States v. Brighton Building & Maintenance Company, 435 U.S. 222 (N.D. Ill. 1977).
6
7 In Feinberg, (as further explained in Brighton Building), the Court of Appeals for 8 the Seventh Circuit made clear that regardless of a defendant's entitlement to 9 discover statements he made, the trial court may grant discovery of information
10 concerning the circumstances of those statements. Thus, in Brighton Building, the 11 court ordered disclosure of the name and address of persons to whom statements 12 were made, as well as the date and places of those statements. Feinberg holds that 13 this information does not fall within the Jencks Act and thus is discoverable under 14 Rule 16. See Feinberg, 502 F.2d at 1181.

15
17
18
19 This request also seeks discovery of any post-conspiracy statements or 20 admissions made by alleged co-conspirators. Early production of these statements
21 is appropriate in order to insure that the requirements of Bruton v. United States,
22 391 U.S. 123 (1968) are satisfied and to allow counsel to file an appropriate motion
23 for severance, if it becomes relevant.

F. Request for Expert Witness Information

Pursuant to Fed.R.Crim.P. 16(a)(1)(A) and Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963), JESUS ROSAS-MANCILLA requests to inspect and copy or photograph any results or reports of physical or mental examinations and of scientific tests or experiments which are within the possession, custody or control of the government, the existence of which is known, or by the exercise of due diligence may become known to the attorney for the government, and which reports are material to the preparation of the defense or intended for use by the government as evidence in their case in chief at trial.

In regards to this expert information, JESUS ROSAS-MANCILLA requests all rough notes, memoranda, correspondence and reports setting forth the results, whether positive or negative, of all expert analysis conducted during the course of the investigation of this case.
